“ David joined the Sack team on October 2010. At that time he was just another guy hiring on to show us what he was capable of doing. He quickly was recognized as a leader in the company and took on managing or helping manage the mechanical installation of numerous high profile jobs for Sack. He was always some one we could rely on to "show up", to protect our interest and to help insure that a professionally done job was delivered to our clients. He was a teacher to many members of our HVAC team, many who also have risen to the level of top field leadership. David was always present for our company superintendent meetings and participated with a smile, with humor and with devotion to helping Sack become a better organization. David and Vicki were always together at our yearly company gatherings. In Vicki we saw a loving and devoted wife to her man. They brought us a lot of smiles, laughter and good conversation and sense of family. We will carry his memory on in our hearts and in our workplaces. He was a good man in every sense of the word.
