“ Few people I’ve ever come across were filled with more life than Steve. Always friendly, always shared some interesting story, always lived “large” - whether he was driving around in his convertible or telling about his experience living traditionally with native Americans. Many fond memories.

“ Steve will be missed. He was a great friend of my fathers. We never felt left out when he was at are house. I remember the two of them playing guitars. Steve always played the game of "the missing bouncey ball. Rest in peace.

“ Steve was a distant cousin of ours and when I was a kid he worked at the Foote gas station in Hastings, NE. We would walk there after school to charge candy and visit with him a minute, he was so funny! One day he had a little lab puppy and said "here, this guy is perfect for you, Take him home and tell your Mom Steve gave him to you!" I was so thrilled and proudly show up at home with this beautiful puppy...and Mom made me take him back. :( Steve laughed so hard! Loved that guy!! So sorry for his family's loss! Margaret Foote

“ Mr. Foote was a hoot! I was able to visit with him a lot and we would laugh about nothing because we didn't have time to waste. We had to move on more important business, like his family, who were very important to him. Very proud of his son and daughter in law. Warren was a very smart gentleman and he would always want to know when I was coming back. I would tell soon and he would say you dang well better. I loved this man, and his son. I wish that I could spent hours more time, listening to his memories that would keep me in awe and many time in stitches. Mr. Foot is walking strong without limitations now. You are free and take a moment on your journey, to make strangers you will meet in another world. Give them the appreciation that you gave me, just because I was taking up time with you that provided 10 X's more value to me than I could ever offer you in exchange. May God bless you and hold you tight for a while, and then just maybe, get our Heavenly Father to smile a while as y'all interact. I love you my friend. I will hope to see you again when that time comes, but good Lord willing I have some more friends just like you, right around the next bend. Your friend, George Moye
